Don't bring policy and delivery closer together - make them the same thing

James Reeve, 24 March 2017 - Apprenticeship service

My name's James Reeve and I'm a senior policy advisor at the Department for Education. For the past 18 months I've spent a lot of time travelling to Coventry to work with the team building the apprenticeship service.

Exploring Future Leadership: Our first ever Global Online Workshop

It's been three weeks since the One Team Gov global online workshop (since then, we've needed lots of rest!) This post brings together the resources, slide decks, and videos in one handy place for you Leading public services has always been tough, but we might be living through our toughest challenge yet. With increasing regularity and severity our public sector leaders are having to tackle complex societal issues that no single organisation can face alone.

Think globally, act locally

Why it matters

We're helping to make our sector fit for the networked age

We're experimenting with new ways of leading

We're democratising change

We're giving people hope

If you're tired of waiting for the revolution, start it yourself.

Stay connected
